Abstract

A one-paragraph abstract summarising the argument the paper makes, written last but placed first.

1 Introduction

State the construction under analysis and the claim the paper makes about it, with pointers to where each later section develops the argument.

2 Data and Method

Describe the corpus or elicitation method used to gather the examples discussed below. A numbered example in the standard linguistics format:

(1) The cat sat on the mat.

3 Analysis

Develop the argument, citing prior work as it becomes relevant (Goldberg, 1995).

Construction	Example
Caused-motion	She sneezed the napkin off the table.
Ditransitive	He gave her the book.

Table 1: Example constructions

4 Conclusion

Summarise the finding and what it implies for the broader constructionist literature.
